Trust Activities from May 2013 – June 2013

- ❖ The second free Ayurveda medical camp was conducted on 12th May 2013 at Rottigoundanur village. This was followed by an Annadanam (free meal) which was par-taken by over 500 villagers.
- ❖ On 9th June 2013, the third free Ayurveda Medical camp and Annadanam was conducted. This time the villagers involved themselves fully in the function. They helped with the arrangement as well as helped conduct the program. The free Ayurveda medical camp was a great success. 46 patients took free treatment, and about 440 villagers took part in the Annadanam.
- ❖ The village Rottigoundanur is far away from the main city and hence no newspapers were reaching the place. The Trust arranged for the Newspapers to be delivered to the people at their door step, and the result was happy exchange of information by the young and the old literate to the illiterates.
- ❖ 14 students from Michigan University visited Vaidyagrama on 20th May 2013. They were happy to go around the green eco-friendly hospital, and attend lectures on Ayurveda and its treatments. They also showed much interest when they learned about the activities of Punarnava Ayurveda Trust. Before they bid adieu to Vaidyagrama, the students planted some trees around the hospital..
- ❖ Assisi Snehalaya is a centre which houses 36 HIV+ children at Rottigoundanur village. Volunteers from the Trust visit the centre every day and conduct counseling sessions for the children

Other activities of the trust

Currently we are raising funds for the Orphanage, Senior citizen home and a “How to Live” school in Rottigoundanur village, near vaidyagrama.

We intend to

- ❖ create a space to house children and elders; so that they can mutually bring joy to each other, support each other, learn from each other, “share and care” and most importantly “live simple, live well, live healthy, live happy”
- ❖ create a learning space, a “how to live” school where the children can learn to live life on their own terms; a school which will focus as much on practical skills as the theory that is currently being imparted in schools; a school where the elders can share their life experience with the children to make them better prepared to face the journey ahead

We invite you to join us on this journey; for we believe that the “whole world is our extended family” and every one of us can contribute to bringing joy to the many who are temporarily without joy.

A small step in that direction is what we appeal. Let’s all get together and make this a reality. You can donate whatever you can, for the cause, volunteer, or even spread the word.
